

ENGLISH PODCASTS

Rain

Telegram kanalimiz: @Listening_english_podcast

THE LISTENING TAPESCRIPT

"Rain, rain go away. Come back another day." This is a nursery rhyme we used to sing in England when we were small. We wanted it to stop raining so we could play. There was nothing more depressing than looking at the rain outside the window when we really wanted to go to the park. People around the world have different opinions on rain. I went to Dubai once and it rained. People were dancing in the streets. They said that rain was so precious. They think it's a special occasion when it rains so they like to feel it on their skin. That makes sense. I do the same when it snows. People in Alaska might think that's strange. I wonder how global warming will affect rain. More in some countries, less in others.

LISTENING GAP FILL

"Rain, rain go away. _____ day." This is a nursery rhyme we _____ England when we were small. We wanted it to stop raining so we could play. There was nothing _____ than looking at the rain outside the window when we really wanted to go to the park. People around the world have different _____. I went to Dubai once and it rained. People were dancing in the streets. They said that rain _____. They think it's a special occasion when it rains so _____ it on their skin. That makes sense. _____ it snows. People in Alaska might think that's strange. I _____ warming will affect rain. More in some countries, less in others.

CORRECT THE SPELLING

"Rain, rain go away. Come back rohtaen day." This is a nursery rhyme we used to sing in England when we were small. We entdwa it to stop raining so we could play. There was nothing more indsgrspee than oilkgon at the rain tuioeds the window when we really wanted to go to the park. People around the world have different nnoipois on rain. I went to Dubai once and it rained. People were dancing in the streets. They said that rain was so eruoiscp. They think it's a aeiclsp occasion when it rains so they like to feel it on their skin. That makes seesn. I do the same when it snows. People in Alaska might think that's strange. I wonder how global warming will aefctf rain. More in some countries, less in others.

UNJUMBLE THE WORDS

"Rain, rain go away. another back Come day." This is a nursery rhyme in sing to used we England when we were small. We stop to it wanted so raining we could play. There was nothing more depressing than looking at the window we rain the when really outside wanted to go to the park. People have world the around opinions different on rain. I went to Dubai once and it rained. People were dancing in the streets. They said that rain was so precious. think They occasion special a it's when it rains feel so it they on like their to skin. That makes sense. I do the same when it snows. People in Alaska might think that's strange. global will I how warming affect wonder rain. More in some countries, less in others.